News Brief | July 2023

Dear FIG C7 delegates and friends,

Welcome to the July news brief! Shamelessly, we're dedicating the whole edition to the highly anticipated C7/C2 Annual Meeting, 2-4 October, Deventer, Netherlands.

1. What is it? Why should I go?

The FIG C7 Annual Meeting is dedicated to all things cadastre, land management, and land administration. It's the only event of its kind. It brings together thought leaders and decision makers in our field, from across the globe, from all levels, and from across the sector. You'll be updated on latest developments, alerted to emerging trends, and have a chance to influence them too.

2. Why register?

Spaces are limited! ...and they are filling up quickly. If you're planning to attend, but have been holding off on registering, now is time to do so. Be fast to avoid disappointment!

3. Should I submit an abstract?

Yes, you should. We want to hear what you and your organisation have been up to! New technology innovations or applications? New partnerships across government or with private sector? Challenges with financing? New education offerings? This is the place to present them. It's only a few hundred words, and there is no need to submit a full paper. However, for registration, priority will be given to those who submit an abstract.
